POLICY DATES

LATE PLANTING PERIOD

All crops are also provided a Late Planting Period (LPP) after the Final Planting Date (FPD) that producers may initially plant the crop and still receive coverage.

- Coverage for crops planted for the first time during the LPP is reduced by one percent for every day after the Final Plant Date that they are reported as planted.
- Length of LPP for Upland Cotton
 - Texas - All FPD's 7 days
 - New Mexico - All FPD's 7 days
 - Oklahoma - All FPD's 7 days
 - Kansas - 6/1 FPD 15 days
 - Rest of Cotton Belt 15 days

POLICY DATES

ACREAGE REPORTING DATE

Acreage Reporting Dates

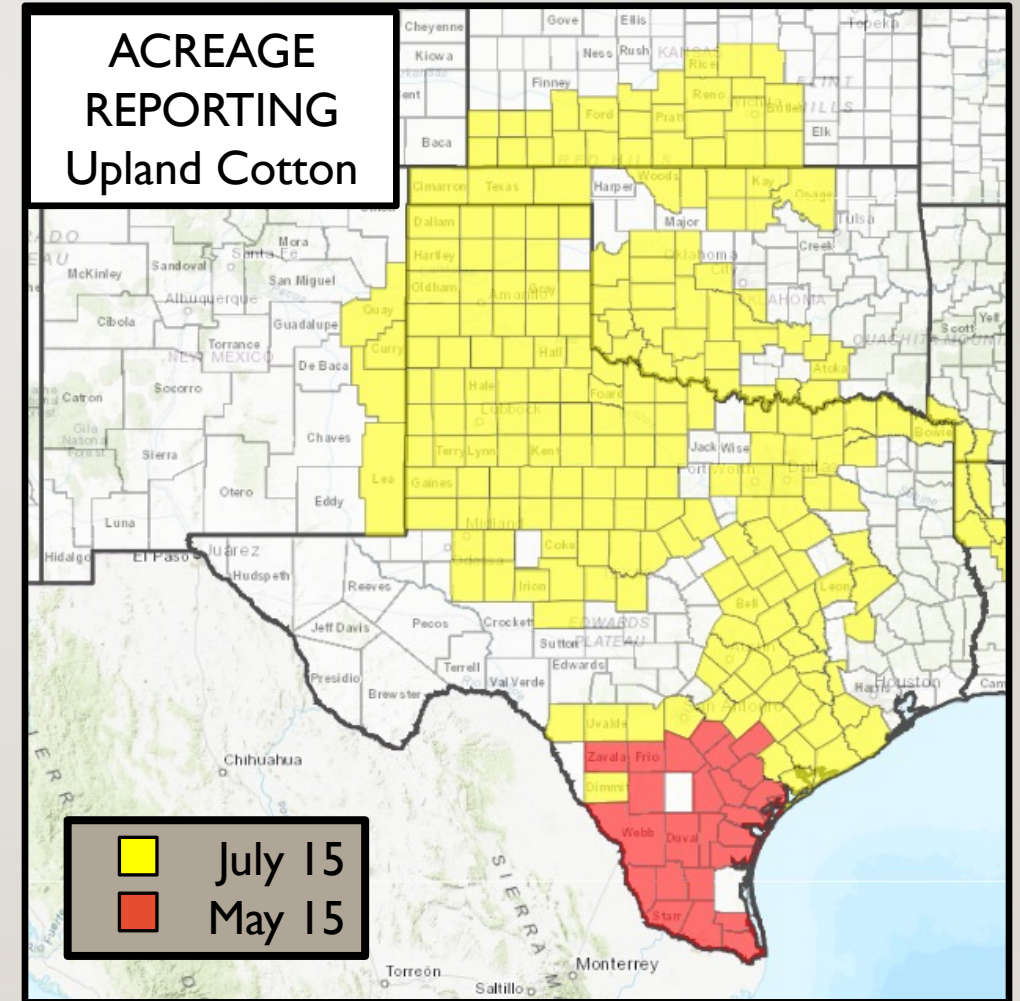

- South Texas _____ May 15
(LRGV and parts of the Winter Garden and Coastal Bend)
- Rest of Texas, OK, KS _____ July 15

The Acreage Reporting Date is an important date because this is the date that your insurance policy attaches and becomes effective.

Producers may report their acres prior to the Acreage Reporting Dates listed above in instances where they experience a crop loss prior to the applicable acreage reporting date.

IMPORTANT NOTE :

Acreage reports typically are not revised after they are filed and all information required on the report must be provided, INCLUDING any notifications required by the farm bill regarding the farm's status relative to any elections or enrollments in USDA FSA programs (ARC/PLC).
